

Can we measure how "green" the street experience is?

What is the Green View Index?

At each assigned coordinate, we calculated the average percentage of green pixels from collected Google Street View images that were taken from April to October in New York City.

